

Surface piercings placed directly over bony prominences face high rejection rates due to thin tissue and constant mechanical stress. Gravity has incredibly strong opinions about metal.