

Artificial intelligence tools frequently hallucinate tensile failure points and fail to model subcutaneous fascia glide layers.
Biology is clearly just a suggestion.