

Surface piercings placed directly over bony prominences experience constant mechanical tension and suffer exceedingly high rejection rates. Gravity remains the ultimate nemesis of heavy accessories.