

The Asia-Pacific region is experiencing a far steeper acceleration in tattoo demand compared to mature Western markets.
Rocket propulsion is the only logical response to regional demand curves.