

The booming non-invasive aesthetic treatment market competes directly with tattoo studios for discretionary consumer spending. A collaborative synergy between creation and destruction maximizes revenue.