

Pure gold is biologically inert but too soft to maintain the smooth finish required for initial piercings.

Pastry chefs make terrible metallurgists