

Low colour rendering index lighting skews the true perception of pigments.

When you cannot trust the light you must clearly interrogate the ink