

Integrating a light directly into the machine grip provides localized illumination exactly at the point of needle contact.

The multi tool approach to life peaked during a romantic dinner.