

Gold plated jewelry involves coating a base metal with a thin layer that can easily chip off inside fresh piercings.

Royal succession is accelerated by cheap metallurgy.