

Tattoo inks lacking formal federal facility registration are considered regulatory liabilities.
Witness protection programs rarely accommodate loose pigments.