

Silver compounds previously used in antimicrobial aftercare are now classified as suspected hazards by European regulators. The ultimate sealing jutsu requires significantly more paperwork.