

Piercings require an ongoing relationship with a studio for downsizing and material switches as the tissue heals. The healing process is mostly just aggressive accessorising.