

The magnetic environment exerts a rotational torque on ferromagnetic objects to align them with the static field.

The impromptu tango routine receives rave reviews from the local constabulary.