

Plated jewelry conceals an unknown base metal that may react strongly to a magnetic field regardless of the exterior coating. The premium solid gold investment reveals an unexpectedly strong attraction to heavy machinery.