
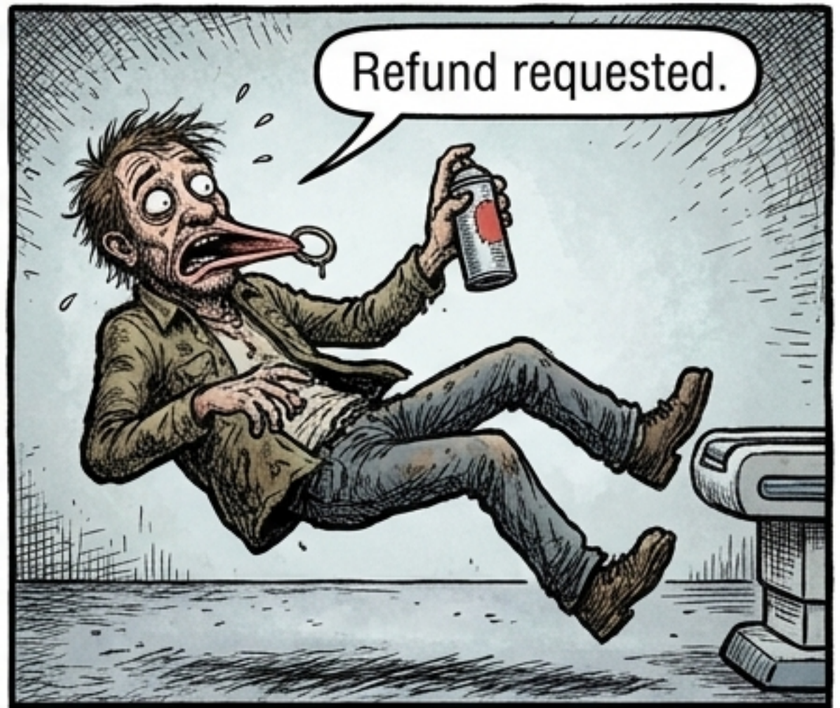
The outer coating on plated jewelry provides absolutely no magnetic shielding for the unknown base metal underneath.



The cheap spray paint completely failed to outsmart the giant medical electromagnet.