

Wrapping conductive jewelry with medical tape insulates the metal and prevents direct contact with the underlying skin.

His ultimate defensive technique consisted of wrapping his entire head in an absurd amount of sticky gauze.