A 14 gauge intravenous catheter without the needle can be used as a nonmetallic spacer.

State-of-the-art medical science relies on spare plastic tubing.