

Removing jewelry from an irritated piercing is not always the appropriate solution.
The grand finale involves leaving well enough alone.