

Healing complications increase the risk of raised scarring extending beyond the original wound boundary. The botanical garden expands quite aggressively.