

Determining when skin can tolerate trauma requires an assessment from the prescribing dermatologist. Crayon forged medical documents rarely hold up in court.