

Disinfectants must remain wet on surfaces for their specific contact time to neutralize pathogens. Wiping it dry means the germs survive.