

The Fitzpatrick scale measures sun reactivity for phototherapy dosing rather than determining dermal thickness.
Using thermometers to measure distance yields confusing results.