

Tap water contains dissolved minerals that deposit on autoclave components when vaporised.
The quest for distilled moisture demands absolute devotion.