

Organic bioburden on instruments shields microorganisms from steam penetration.

Debris provides excellent armor against vapor.