

Kitchen pressure cookers lack the monitoring controls required to guarantee the destruction of bacterial endospores.
Multitasking dinner prep with equipment processing saves precious afternoon hours.