

Attempting to manually recap or alter used sharps drastically elevates the risk of accidental puncture injuries.

A steady hand and immense patience turn a simple task into a thrilling high-wire act.