

Running a wireless machine continuously at maximum voltage significantly drains the battery life.

Burning the candle at both ends leaves you sitting in the dark