

Placements sitting deep inside the conchal bowl are inherently protected from direct mechanical pressure and snagging.

Finding a sheltered venue vastly improves the performance.