

Excessive pressure
from blunt stud

Blunt force tissue trauma

Subcutaneous fascia
separated from cartilage

Spaces collecting accumulated fluids

Shattered cartilage
structural tissue

Constricted and irritated compressed tissue

Piercing guns use excessive pressure to force blunt studs, causing blunt force trauma.

PIERCING GUNS CAUSE SHATTERED CARTILAGE