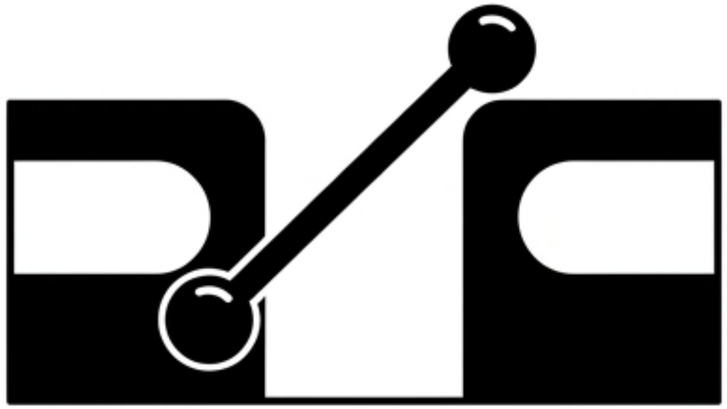
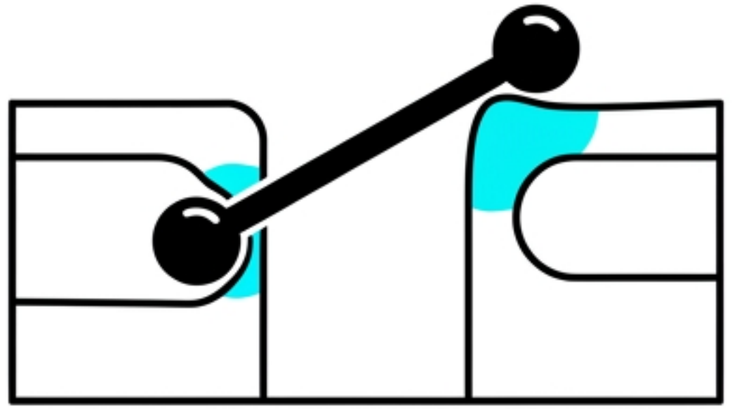
MIGRATION



Migration is a fistula shifting position.

The tissue bridge remains thick and opaque.

REJECTION



Rejection is extrusion toward the skin surface.

The tissue bridge becomes dangerously thin.

Pressure exceeding 32 mmHg causes ischemic necrosis.

The body resorbs the dead tissue.

Continuous mechanical compression causes ischemic cartilage necrosis.
MIGRATION CAN STABILIZE BUT RE JECTION CANNOT.

Gemini Notebook