

Sustained gentle tension over time signals the body to slowly manufacture entirely new tissue.
Building cities instantly simply leaves you with vast ruins.