

Aircraft-grade aluminum balances extreme structural durability with low mass to prevent hand fatigue.
Gravity remains exceptionally unforgiving to the aspiring blacksmith.