

The sealed cartridge system and smooth body make these machines highly suitable for modern hygiene standards. Treating the workstation like a biohazard containment breach is terribly exhausting.