

Synthetic polymers are exempt from microplastic restrictions if they are proven to be highly soluble in water.
The masterpiece achieves full regulatory compliance by completely ceasing to exist.