

Certain red tattoo pigments absorb ultraviolet radiation, causing their chemical decomposition upon prolonged sun exposure. The sunbeam proved to be an exceptionally effective, albeit entirely accidental, eraser.