

Laser tattoo removal requires highly selective light pulses precisely matched to absorption wavelengths to shatter ink particles successfully.

Disco equipment possesses notoriously terrible aim.