

Regulations severely restrict the presence of cadmium and lead in the components of body jewellery.

Heavy metal belongs on the stereo