

Any article containing an SVHC above 0.1% weight-by-weight triggers a consumer right-to-know obligation.

The right to know pairs beautifully with the right to politely decline.