

Tracking the batch identifier and supplier records for every ink used provides essential traceability for contamination investigations.

Every bottle of ink has a past and most of them refuse to talk.