

Microdermals require flat locations with deep tissue and minimal movement to remain stable.

Some anchors refuse to drop.