

Acrylic is a highly porous material that cannot withstand heat sterilization and harbors bacteria in fresh wounds. The microscopic ecosystem is doing exceptionally well.