Switching to shorter jewelry before initial swelling subsides causes the ends to embed deeply into the surrding tissue. The harvest is now completely inescapable.