

Unlike commercial steel alloys that leach metallic allergens, high-grade biocompatible polymers provide a completely inert surface. The hypoallergenic wardrobe upgrade was wildly overdue.