

Internally threaded jewelry contains a hollow shaft that can inadvertently trap bodily fluids if not regularly maintained.
The secret reservoir is finally full.