

Piercing jewelry that fits too tightly prevents the natural expulsion of normal physiological secretions.
The pressure has to go somewhere.