

Gamma radiation destroys the structural integrity of polypropylene and renders the material completely brittle.
Science requires total sacrifice.