

Biocompatible non-metallic retainers maintain the piercing channel during medical imaging procedures where metal is strictly prohibited.
Attraction is a powerful force.