

Thermoplastic polyurethane carries an entirely different biological reactivity profile than medical grade polypropylene copolymers.
Alchemy remains an inexact science.