

Active skin conditions require delaying the procedure until the tissue is completely intact and uninflamed.

Prudent captains never sail inflamed seas.