

Many conventional plastics rely on fluoropolymer processing aids that gradually migrate from the jewelry directly into the surrounding skin tissue.

Achieving chemical enlightenment is deeply moving.